

Adventure before Dementia

The scribbles of an aged couple who are enjoying the best times of their life.

Update 18/5/2015 Batz-sur-Mer

After Amboise the areas down river are places we have been before, Vouvray, Tours, Villedriy, Saumur, and Angers. So we decided to head for the coast, in 2 stages overnighting in a camper stop at Bouchemaine. We have stayed here before its nice on the banks of the river and 5 Euro for the night, plus water. Well we turn up and there is a barrier arm wanting 13.50 Euro payed by card which adds 1.25 Euro, so off we went. 10 miles down river at a small out off the way town of Possonniere, There was a Municipal camp-site that is open all year but only charges in July and August.

There was a toilet block with hot water and even electric hookups, we did not use a hook up as we felt it wrong (someone has to pay for the electric).

How different in attitude from the place before.

I think these folk had too much red wine one lunchtime.

We have arrived at a fantastic area so good we have stayed 8 days

It is nw of Saint nazaire on the Atlantic coast a small peninsular incorporating the towns of, La Baule, Le Pouliguen, Batz-sur-Mer and the prettiest Le Croisic, it reminded us of Guernsey.

From the camp-site there was a lovely 10 ml walk around the top of the peninsular, With all its sandy bays and little harbours, finally going thro Le Croisic with its picturesque harbour.

Where it is possible to see the “lesser blue backed shell seeker”

The bay back to the mainland is full of salt fields which is why the harbour is here now it is a booming tourist industry.

Like of the day.

With the weather being so bad we have watched more than our quota of d.v.d's so we needed some more. THANKS AMAZON, delivered to the site in 3 days at a cost of £2.38 postage.

Its very windy on this coast but this guy was not having his balcony handrails blow away.

Some times you just have to try the local Brittany deep fried tarts.
